

La Bohème Restoration Work

Restoration work

Recently, the current owner spent 50,000 euros on recaulking the hull. Over the last 20 years, the previous owner spent some 481,000 euros at current rates. So the vessel has undergone over half a million euros worth of work in 20 years. This averages 26,000 euros per year, indicating the level of dedication to her restoration. According to the surveyor, all her timbers and frames are very sound. Structurally, she is as you would expect, given that so much is relatively new. From now on, all she will need to give good service is annual maintenance.

Here is a glimpse of major works carried out over the last 20 years. There are literally many hundreds of photographs in her records.

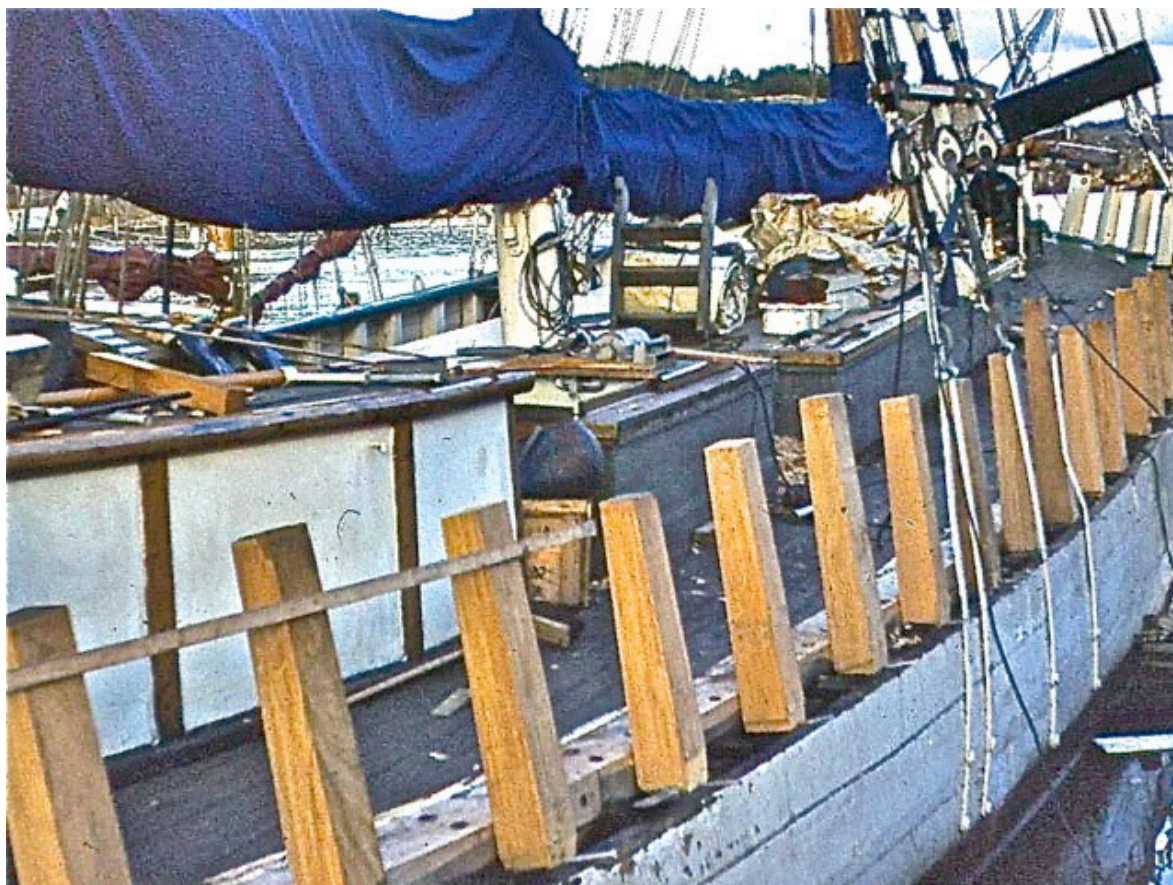

1. New portside frames and planks. Oak replaced pine on the hull.

2. New starboard frames and planks and new transom planks.

3. New starboard water boards and stanchions. The port side was done the following year.

4. New laminated deep keel.

5. New solid oak keelson

6. Interior hull fully relined and new internal fit out.

7. New solid larch mast.

